Cindy Noble, M.Ed.

Director, Bilingual and ELL Education

“Language is the road map of a culture. It tells you where its people come from and where they are going.”

Rita Mae Brown

Director of Bilingual and ELL Education, Cindy Noble, is charged with leading the high quality educational opportunities for language learners across the district, whether they are learning in SEI or mainstream classrooms or at the K-12 Puente de Hozho Trilingual schools. Within the program, students learn the foundations of language that will help them succeed in mainstream classrooms and teachers across the district receive specialized training in highly effective methods for teaching language. She also facilitates Title III grants, undertakes state and federal monitoring, and has provided input for the Arizona Department of Education – Office of English Language Acquisition Services, representing the students of Northern Arizona.

Cindy completed her undergraduate work at Northern Arizona University earning a BS in Elementary and Special Education. She followed her passion for teaching by earning endorsements in ESL Education, Early Childhood Education and Library/Media Specialist. With this background, she has taught in ESL classrooms, bilingual classrooms and mainstream classrooms as well as serving the district as an ESL Resource Teacher, SIOP Coach and ELL Specialist. In addition, she currently teaches professional development courses for FUSD teachers related to Grammar instruction in the mainstream classroom.

With a strong sense of family and community, Cindy spends most of her free time visiting relatives in the Tucson area, attending sporting events at Coconino High School and enjoying the beauty of Northern Arizona. It is with sincere joy and pleasure that Mrs. Noble serves the district as the Director of Bilingual and ELL Education.
